

Do the work now. Refinance on the higher valuation later.

Your broker has suggested Propential because the funding you need sits between two things: the value your property has today, and the value it will have once the work is done. Propential bridges that gap without touching the loan you already have.

STEP ONE

Bridge

Propential funds improvement to your property, secured by caveat (second mortgage in QLD or NT), sitting behind your existing home loan. Your current mortgage remains untouched.

STEP TWO

Uplift

Once the renovation is completed, the property is revalued at what it is now worth, not what it was worth before you started.

STEP THREE

Refinance out

Your broker refinances you at the revalued amount and Propential is repaid from the proceeds. There is no early-exit fee for doing this sooner rather than later.

Why your broker suggested it

- Your first mortgage is untouched. No break costs, no re-pricing, no losing a rate you like.
- It is assessed on its own criteria, so it does not depend on your current lender agreeing to a top-up.
- You can repay it whenever you like. Most clients clear it at the refinance.

What it is used for

- Renovations and extensions that lift the value of the property
- Finishing works a construction loan will not cover
- Landscaping, pools, driveways and outdoor works
